WHAT ARE SKIN BOOSTERS?

A GUIDE TO HYDRATION, REPAIR & OVERALL SKIN HEALTH

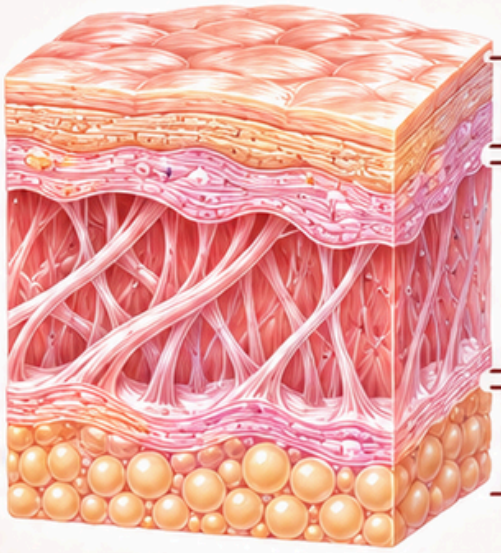

The Basics ♡

Skin boosters are injectable or topical formulations designed to improve overall skin quality by deeply hydrating, supporting skin barrier function, and enhancing the appearance of tone, texture and elasticity.

How They Work ♡

- ☑ Deliver key ingrectable (like HA, PN/PDRN, peptides and nutrients) to the skin.
- ☑ Increase and retain hydration.
- ☑ Support collagen and elastin.
- ☑ Improve skin texture, radiance and resilience over time.

Understanding Your Skin ♡

Epidermis
Outer barrier that protects, retains moisture and keeps skin healthy.

Dermis
Where collagen, elastin and hydration live. Skin boosters mainly work here.

Hypodermis
A deeper layer of fat that provides cushioning and support.

Skin Boosters vs. Fillers ♡

SKIN BOOSTERS	DERMAL FILLERS
Improve overall skin quality (hydration, texture, elasticity)	Add volume and structure (e.g., cheeks, lips, contour)
Use thinner, skin-conditioning formulas (HA, PN, peptides, etc.)	Use thicker, cross-linked HA gels for volume and shape
Create a more hydrated, smooth and radiant look	Target specific areas for lift and definition
Results are gradual and cumulative	Results are more immediate and structural

Treatment Types ♡

INJECTABLE

- ☑ Delivered into the dermis for deeper benefits
- ☑ Often longer-lasting
- ☑ Common options: PN/PDRN, HA, exosomes, multi-actives

TOPICAL

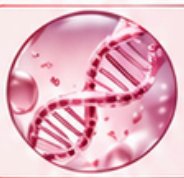

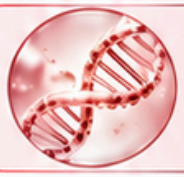

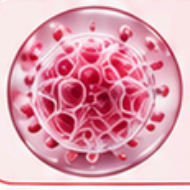

- ☑ Applied to the skin surface (serums, ampoules, ampoule masks)
- ☑ Supports hydration, barrier repair and skin health
- ☑ A great complement to injectable treatments

Key Takeaway ♡

Skin boosters aren't about adding volume — they're about improving the overall health and quality of your skin.

KEY SKIN BOOSTER INGREDIENTS

THE SCIENCE BEHIND GLOWING, HEALTHIER SKIN

INGREDIENT	WHAT IT IS	KEY BENEFITS
 HYALURONIC ACID (HA)	A naturally occurring humectant that attracts and retains moisture in the skin.	☑ Deep, long-lasting hydration ☑ Plumps and smooths texture ☑ Improves skin elasticity ☑ Supports a healthy skin barrier
 PDRN (Polydeoxyribo-nucleotide)	DNA fragments, often derived from salmon, that support skin repair and renewal.	☑ Helps skin regeneration ☑ Soothes and strengthens skin ☑ Supports collagen production ☑ Improves skin texture and tone
 PN (Polynucleotide)	Longer DNA fragments that support tissue repair, hydration and overall skin health.	☑ Promotes skin healing & renewal ☑ Improves elasticity and firmness ☑ Supports collagen and elastin ☑ Enhances skin quality and resilience
 PEPTIDES	Short chains of amino acids that act as signaling molecules to support skin function.	☑ Support collagen and elastin ☑ Help improve skin firmness ☑ Strengthen the skin barrier ☑ Can aid in skin repair and resilience
 AMINO ACIDS	The building blocks of proteins (like collagen and elastin) that support skin structure and repair.	☑ Nourish and condition skin ☑ Support collagen production ☑ Help with hydration and barrier health ☑ Improve overall skin vitality
 VITAMINS & ANTIOXIDANTS	Skin-supportive nutrients (e.g., vitamin C, niacinamide, glutathione) that help protect and brighten skin.	☑ Brighten and even skin tone ☑ Help defend against free radical damage ☑ Support a healthier, clearer complexion ☑ Enhance overall skin radiance
 EXOSOMES	Cell-derived vesicles that may deliver growth factors, proteins and signaling molecules to the skin.	☑ Support skin repair and renewal ☑ May improve texture and elasticity ☑ Help calm and strengthen skin ☑ Emerging research with growing interest

Key Takeaway | Skin boosters often combine multiple ingredients (like HA, PN/PDRN, peptides and vitamins) to hydrate, repair and improve overall skin quality.
